OBSERVATIONS YESTERDAY.

THE SITUATION.

In order to turnish the readers of the Ar-PEAR with correct information as to the true siluation in Louisiana, Colonel Keating, of the Appeal, left for New Orleans on Sunday evening; and we give in another column his special dispatches, from which it will be seen that an atrocious scheme has been concocted by which to defraud and cheat the Demo cratic party out of its great victory. The danger is imminent—there is a strong probability that the fruits of the magnificent victory achieved one week age to-day will turn to spiles. Enough is known as to the vote in Louisiana to enable every honest man to declare with a certainty, beyond honest question, that the Democrats have carried the State, and any change of the result, such as feared by Mr. Keating, would be an outrage which would convulse the American Union. The against the Democracy by force and fraud. The infamy was quietly permitted because the southern people alone were the sufferers. But now that the outrage affects the life of the nation, and comes home to millions of freemen, a steen will be raised which will shake the nation to its center. Ten years of usurpation and just such infamics as is now proposed in Louisiana, have learned the south how to suffer and how to endure. Her people can be subjected to no lower degradation than has already been imposed, and they they will submit to putched up, fraudulent returns, a bold and flagrant tumpering with questionably elected President of the United States, Governor Haves has been defeated at the polls, and none know the fact better than himself; and if he should take his seat ment throughout the land equal to that caused by the firing upon Fort Sumter. ### OBITUARY.

In Memory of Belle Grehau. midst and taken from us one of the fairest, swe and most promising bads in our realms. It is been truly said, "Death loves a shining mark Little Belle was a member of the Chelsen school where her quiet, unobtrusive and sweet disposition won for her a host of friends, who deeply lament he won for her a host of friends, who deeply ament he early death. She was beloved by teachers and pupils as she was a most devoted and obedient pupil and a lovely schoolmate. We shall ever miss that swee face, lovely manner and genile smile that charac terized her presence. Bereft and heart-stricker parents, recognize the hand of God in this your grea affliction, and trust in Him who hath said, "For such is the khediom of heaven."

A mourning school, a vacant seat, Tell us that one we loved to meet Shall join our youthful throug no more Till all these changing scenes are o'er.
